

Session Planned Jan. 27 on Revitalization Plan

The Borough of Flemington will be hosting a community-focused action plan meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 27, as it seeks input from Flemington Borough residents, neighboring communities, business and property owners on the collective vision for its long-term future. The “Community Action Plan” meeting will kick off at 7p.m. that evening.

Attendees are asked to join the session for online presentations/discussions with the borough’s consultant team. Those seeking to join can do so via phone or computer.

The urban planning and design firm, Stantec, will present an initial analysis focused on how Flemington Borough can best position itself to attract new investment and flourish in today’s changing economy. They will also lead a Q&A session where participants can pose questions and spark discussion.

As an alternative, interested parties can also share input at their convenience, 24/7, by using the borough’s Interactive Action Plan website. Visit this page for more information: www.loveflemington.com/community-action-plan.

Here are the steps to sharing feedback digitally:

- Log in by phone or computer anytime to share ideas on Flemington’s interactive project site.
- Have an idea for a particular spot in Flemington? Just put a “pin” in the map and leave a note.
- Complete the survey to lend unique perspective and great ideas to the conversation.

What’s next? After these public engagement activities, including the Jan. 27 meeting, the project team will translate analytical findings and community input into a draft plan document to be reviewed in early-2021.

For those without access to Zoom, there is limited availability for up to nine residents to participate at Borough Hall on Jan. 27. To reserve a seat, please email Director@flemingtonCP.com or call (908) 809-5464.
